

Patterson Boat Found Rotting

(Continued from Page One) is not in keeping with his own to go away like this. The two fighter chairs on top of the boat are ones he bought just before we went on our fishing trip.

"He was very proud of his boat. He was the distributor for Cruise-master here."

Mr. Stedham said the last time he saw the Pattersons was in January.

In a previous story, The Herald-Post quoted Mrs. Philip Belson, present occupants of the Patterson home at 3000 Piedmont avenue who is renting the house, as saying some men, "presumably from the real estate agency" came and got the boat.

Mail Is Mystery
Mail addressed to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Patterson at their home at 3000 Piedmont avenue continued to go there for a month and a half after they mysteriously disappeared from El Paso last March 12.

This phase of evidence indicating the Pattersons either made a spur-of-the-moment decision to go away or were lured to an unsolved fate, was disclosed today by investigators who are digging deeper into the baffling Patterson case.

Whether the mail stacked up at the house or was picked up and taken away is undetermined by the investigators. They intend to find out about that.

Order to Change Mail
An order changing delivery of the mail from the Patterson home was presented at the El Paso Post Office April 27, effective that date. That much the Post Office officials are permitted to disclose. They are not permitted by postal regulations to disclose who signed the order, or the address to which the mail delivery was changed.

But the matter of where mail is being delivered is one that can be tested by the sender of the mail, if so inclined. Mail addressed to W. D. Patterson or Mrs. Patterson at 3000 Piedmont avenue is being delivered to the Patterson Photo Supply store at 113 East Main street.

It was a month and 15 days after the Pattersons disappeared before the home delivery mail was changed.

Other Data Sought
The investigators are obtaining information on when other public services, such as telephone, electricity and gas, were discontinued in the name of W. D. Patterson at the residence, and who ordered them discontinued.

Intense investigation of the Patterson case was renewed when it was disclosed the Patterson cat, Tommy — which Mrs. Patterson treated practically as a child — is at the Dr. D. L. Cady Animal Hospital at 2101 Texas street and has been thoroughly identified as the Patterson cat.

Cat Came Back
The Herald-Post published reports months ago that the Patterson cat had been observed by neighbors of the Pattersons, that the cat kept coming back to the Patterson home. Investigators attached no particular significance to that at the time, some of the persons close to the Pattersons expressing doubt the "stray" cat was the one to which Mrs. Patterson attached strong sentiment.

But when the present tenants of the Patterson home sent the cat to the animal hospital, Dr. Cady and his assistant, Wendell Broughton, immediately identified the cat as Tommy, the long-time pet of the Pattersons. Tommy had been in the hospital many times.

Some other close friends of the Pattersons also identified Tommy. All who are concerned in efforts to determine whether the Pattersons "just went away suddenly for a long stay" or were lured away to possible foul play are agreed on one point: Mrs. Patterson would not have gone away knowingly or voluntarily without first placing Tommy in the best of care.

Some persons close to the Pattersons are reluctant to talk, slow to give information that might shed light on whether the Pattersons

Othman Unions Make No Appeal To Rich Sears Veterans

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The fellow to hit for a small loan (or a big one either) is any veteran employe of Sears, Roebuck and Co. He's likely to be a wealthy man, richer by far than the customers buying from him gas stoves, shoes, or barn door paint.

The Senators investigating labor racketeers were startled when they heard how Sears treats its help. So was I. The lawgivers were looking into some horrid labor practices on the part of the biggest mail order house at its store in Boston in 1953 and there was Wallace Tudor, vice president of the firm, taking the wind out of the inquiry by saying what the company did there was inexcusable, unnecessary, and disgraceful.

He added that this was an isolated episode, of which the firm was ashamed. He said the management was proud of its high wage policy, of the top-quality, peopled attracted by good salaries, and of the fabulous profit-sharing scheme Sears long has had in force.

Comes Out Wealthy
Tudor mentioned one long-time employe, who deposited during his career a total of $4820 in the profit-sharing plan. The company put in some money, too, and it all was invested in Sears, Roebuck stock, which soared in value over the years. When finally the employe retired he got no mere good watch, but — and this is no typographical error — a check for $174,980.

Tudor mentioned a Sears saleslady who paid in $3450 during her 25 years behind the counter; when she retired she got $47,125. Another employe quit after 16 years of work and deposits of $2402. His check was for $17,300. Tudor said such sums were no exceptions for retiring employes.

Sons disappeared voluntarily or by violence.

The Sheriff's office issued an all-point bulletin saying the Pattersons are missing, and asking all possible assistance in locating them.

At least three friends of the Pattersons have declared they will join in formal action asking a court of inquiry on the missing couple if the Pattersons have not returned by the middle of December, the time when persons operating the Pattersons' business say they are due to return.

Duly authorized court officials have made it clear such a request will be granted.

By MARSHALL MCNEIL
Scripture-Howard Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Congress may leave it to the President to make the ultimate decisions on which of our remaining military atomic secrets shall be released to Britain or other allies.

That is the pattern of existing law. And it could be applied again if the joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee accepts President Eisenhower's recommendation for amendment of the act, as far "as may be necessary and desirable."

The recommendation was revealed in the joint communique following the three-day meeting between the President and British Prime Minister MacMillan.

Except for one general category of atomic information — dealing principally with the design and manufacture of weapons — the U. S. can now exchange nuclear information with friendly countries.

But Congress first must be assured by the President that this is in the interest of national security, and that it is not an unreasonable risk.

These agreements are not subject to formal ratification by Congress. But they must be presented to the joint atomic committee for study, and lie before that committee for 30 days while Congress is in session, before they can become effective.

$1 Million Public Relation Program
By FRED W. PERKINS
Scripture-Howard Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The AFL-CIO is preparing to spend $1.2 million a year in restoring organized labor to full public respect.

This will be in an expanded public relations program, with the spending doubled from the present figure. Federation heads recognize that while only a few unions have been exposed by the Senate Racketeers Investigating Committee as subject to corrupt influences, the harmful effect has hit all organized labor.

The bigger program was authorized in a meeting here, ended yesterday, in which the AFL-CIO Executive Council took even more impressive steps toward public esteem through suspension leading toward expulsion for the huge Teamsters Union.

There is a threat of the same sort of treatment for the Baker and Confectionery Workers Union and the United Textile Workers, which were notified of suspensions Nov. 15 unless before that date they take certain sweeping clean-up steps.

These suspensions could lead to expulsions at the AFL-CIO convention opening Dec. 5 in Atlantic City.

Thus the AFL-CIO, under determined leadership of President George Meany and with a whopping majority of the executive council in his corner, risks the loss of nearly $1 million a year in income from per capita dues payment of these three organizations.

At the same time it plans to spend more than that sum in public relations work.

The AFL-CIO has been operating on a tight budget. One possibility is that the convention could raise the per capita dues payments from the 140 unions that will remain within its fold even if the Teamsters, Bakers and United Textile Workers are expelled.

Check Leads On 'Madman' Killer

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 26.—Police continued to check out possible leads today in search of the "madman" who murdered a church secretary Thursday morning and brutally beat a minister.

Officers said they would question the 45 members of the congregation of the Rev. Martin W. Hollis, who attended a Wednesday night prayer meeting at the St. John Lutheran Church, shortly before the minister and his secretary were kidnaped.

Midwest Receives Winter's Blast

The Midwest got its first real taste of winter today as nighttime snow flurries whipped across the Great Lakes region, piling up three inches of snow along the southern shores of the lakes.

An estimated two inches of snow fell in some parts of Chicago, and police reported that more than 200 traffic accidents occurred as motorists picked their way over icy roads. Police said the normal number of accidents on a Friday night was 35 to 40.

North Dakota remained the center of the cold air mass which enveloped the nation, and reported 10-degree temperatures. Meanwhile, northerly winds continued to push colder air from Canada into the eastern and southern parts of the country.
