

Six Months Old Today, Patterson Mystery Deepens

and El Paso County 24 years, according to his 1956 poll tax receipt. His wife, Jennie, is 45 years old and was born in New Jersey, according to her poll tax receipt.

The 1947 directory lists the Pattersons' business address as still in the Caples building, but they had moved to their present residence at 3000 Piedmont avenue.

The 1950-51 directory shows that business apparently was booming. "Pat," by establishing a good credit rating, paying his bills on time, and turning most of the profits back into the business, now was owner of Patterson's Photo Supply Co., 113 North Main street.

A 1956 credit report shows the firm did more than $350,000 business that year.

This credit report also brings to light a curious item. In the history of his business and himself—supplied by "Pat"—his age is given as 60. He previously had given a birthdate which would make him only 53 years old.

How They 'Lived It Up'

"Pat" lived it up in later years here. He and Margaret wore good clothes, a lot of expensive diamond rings and watches, and "Pat" bought her two expensive mink coats.

The coats were stolen about 1951. One was later recovered in New Mexico. The other was never found, police said.

He liked good cars, too. He always was bragging about the fact that he drove a 1956 Cadillac. He bought a little German sports car and almost scared a City policeman friend of his to death.

"He called me up one day and asked me to take a ride with him," the officer said. "He drove by the station and I squeezed in. I thought he was going to kill us both before I could make him take me back to the station."

"Pat" was doing a lot of bragging these days, and living high on the hog. His cars would run a little faster, his boat was a little bit longer, his house trailer was better, his fishing tackle was more expensive, and the fish he caught were always bigger—to hear him tell it. And most of the time he was right.

"Pat" would rather be seen in overalls than a $50 suit of clothes," said Cecil Ward.

Ward, owner of Ward's Motor Clinic at 2600 Wyoming street, is probably the closest friend "Pat" had in El Paso. "He wore $200 suits," Ward added. "If it wasn't the best, he wouldn't want it."

"Sure, he was loud-mouthed and a braggart, but a pretty good guy. He lived it up, but I guess he was making up for all those years when he didn't have anything."

"Pat" also was a great fisherman and bought the best tackle when he went on fishing trips to Mexico, Florida and the West Coast, according to Ward.

Loud Mouth Leads to Trouble

"Pat's" loud talk still got him in trouble once in a while. It was some time last February that "Pat" was in a Juarez night club, having a drink with a beautiful Mexican girl who worked there. "Pat" ordered a drink for her. The waiter refused to serve her because the owners in those places don't want their girls to get pie-eyed. They're there to work.

"Pat" got mad—he'd had a few drinks—and sounded off. Two big bouncers told him to quieten down as there were several dozen customers in the place, mostly El Pasoans.

"Pat" refused and a fight started. "Pat" got banged up a little bit, but it wasn't serious.

"I don't think anybody got really mad," one of the witnesses said, "unless maybe it was 'Pat.' But it all blew over in a few minutes."

On the night of March 4, Cecil Ward and "Pat" worked on a boat at the Patterson home. Ward said he and "Pat" had planned to work on the boat most of the nights that week.

TOMORROW: Patterson's Cadillac shows up—but no Pattersons. Telegram discusses business matters but deepens mystery. Officers baffled by (Pat's) associates' reluctance to talk. Not one word has been heard from them since.

Bigamist Kept 'Men on String' married Brewington bigamously in Las Cruces April 22.

"People called me Cindy," she said. "I just made up Dorr."

Mrs. Williams said she told Brewington she had been married, but led him to believe she was not married at the time to Williams. She said she told Brewington "so many lies he didn't believe anything I told him."

She was asked if Brewington appeared angry when he entered her Morehead avenue apartment, which she was sharing with him and her husband, on the evening of the shooting.

"No," Carol said. "He was smiling. He was afraid of me." She laughed. "I have beat him up so many times." She added: "I was going to clobber him because he didn't get home on time."

Carol acknowledged she had been living on intimate terms with Brewington for four months.

She said Brewington brought in some beer and she told him not to drink it all himself, but to share it with her and Williams.

In the kitchen, Mrs. Williams testified, Brewington took a .25 automatic pistol from his pocket,

The Herald building on Pioneer Plaza in 1909.

His brother, Ben N. Norton, joined the firm in March of 1912. The name was changed to Norton Bros. May 22, 1920. The store was remarking he had got it out of a pawnshop.

"He took the gun out to show it to me," Carol said. "I thought I got him in a corner and take it away from him. He stepped back and hit a chair and the gun went off."

"I said, 'I'm shot!'"

Carol denied Brewington tried to struggle with her. She said, "I lunged at him to get the gun and hit the floor with a bang. Then the gun went off with a bang."

Earlier Brewington testified the shooting was an accident resulting from his "playfully" showing Carol the gun.

He acknowledged that on the day of the shooting Husband Williams had told him, "You're trying to run things and you need a punch in the nose." Brewington said he replied, "You'll get a punch in the nose."

moved to its present location Jan. 1, 1929.

Mr. Norton married Miss Clara Mulliken in 1906. She died in 1949.

Mr. Norton was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, El Paso Masonic Lodge 130, York Rite bodies, and served on the board of the Family Welfare Assn. for many years. He was a charter member of the El Paso Rotary Club, founded April 9, 1914.

Survivors include his son, Fred W. Norton Jr. and his brother, Ben Norton, associated with him in business; a sister, Mrs. E. E. Hoffman of Sedalia; and three grandsons, F. W. Norton III, Mark Coventry Norton, and Charles Daniel Norton, all of El Paso.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at Kaster and Maxon Funeral Home with the Rev. George W. Burroughs and the Rev. C. M. Schindler officiating. Burial will be in the family plot in Evergreen Cemetery. The family requested that contributions be made to the El Paso Boys Club, Family Welfare Assn. or charity of choice in lieu of flowers.
