Juveniles No Problem In Libya, Visitors Say

Two law enforcement officials from Libya, visiting El Paso as guests of the State Department, said their small Mediterranean coast country has no problem with juvenile delinquents. Col. Mohammed Mansuri and Col. Sadek Kashbour said the Libyans "still have not lost control of their children."

Colonel Mansuri is deputy-commissioner of police and head of the Criminal Investigation Department in Tripoli, Libya. Colonel Kashbour is assistant commander of the Cyrenaica Defense Force in Benghazi, Libya. Both are members of the National Police Force of the United Kingdom of Libya.

Respect Parents
The two have been touring the El Paso Police Department as part of their fact-finding visit. They will go back to Libya and apply some of America's law enforcement methods in their own country.

Family restrictions and religious restrictions on youth make delinquency almost unknown," Col. Mansuri said. "A Libyan youth has to ask permission from his parents to do anything or go anywhere until he has reached the age of 18."

"More respect for parents in Libya than here is why there is so little juvenile delinquency."

While in El Paso the two officials toured the city jail, were briefed on the operation of the detectives division, radio control division, traffic division, vice squad, and practiced pistol shooting at the Police Range.

50,000 Students To Get Tests For Tuberculosis

A goal of testing 50,000 El Paso County school children for possible tuberculosis infection has been set by the El Paso Tuberculosis Assn. Officials of the Christmas Seal agency said a new team method of testing the children has allowed a speed-up in the process.

The "team" is composed of members of the association, El Paso County Medical Society, El Paso City-County Health Unit, school nurses and volunteers at the various schools. The group can handle as many as two schools a day, testing one in the morning and another in the afternoon.

The simple patch test, in which a tuberculin treated patch is affixed to the student's back, is removed a few days after the team visit and the results are "read" by a physician. A report is then sent to the parent.

So far in the 1959 school year, the association has tested more than 17,000 students. A total of 876 of those tested showed evidence of tuberculosis infection.

The association will also continue its x-ray program for persons 15 years of age and over. A campaign to have employees of El Paso industries and business x-rayed is planned during 1960.

Other activities of the association are education, counseling and rehabilitation. A portion of the Christmas Seal money is also sent to the National Tuberculosis Assn. for research.

BIG GIFT—Ralphie Messara, a victim of leukemia, displays a $500 check sent to him by an anonymous friend who read of the boy's plight in The Herald-Post. His mother, Mrs. Mary Moreno Messara, said that the money will be used to defray hospital expenses incurred by the boy's illness. Other gifts to the family total more than $200.

Youth Gets Stabbed In Gang Fighting

Fernando Macias, 17, of 4745 Saipan circle is in fair condition at Thomason General Hospital after receiving three stab wounds in the head and chest, in a gang fight at Hammett boulevard and Rivera street last night.

Macias and Raymond Trujillo of 3916 Pera street told officers the fight started when Trujillo, in the company of two girls, was accosted by members of the "X-9" gang, who told Trujillo they wanted him and his "Rivera Street" gang to stay out of their territory. Trujillo ran to get help, he said. He and Macias and three other youths hunted up the X-9ers and they fought.

Scouts Do 'Deed' On Police Cars

Described as a "good deed for the city," thirty Explorer Scouts of the Mesalero District, Troop 188, were busy today washing police cars in back of old Corporation Court. Asked if they could complete the washing of 63 cars today, one Scout replied: "We won't quit 'til we do."

They have visited New York, Atlanta, Ga., Miami, Fla., Austin and Brownsville. From here they will go to Los Angeles and San Francisco before returning to Libya.

El Paso was chosen for them to visit because it demonstrates the problems involved in law enforcement on the border, they said.

Narcotics is no problem in Libya, Col. Mansuri said. "All the countries around us have narcotics problems," he said. "We have a very strict customs and we don't allow narcotics to enter."

Camels Are Helpful
Libya is bounded on the east by Egypt and on the west by Tunisia. One main difference in law enforcement is that in Libya all law enforcement is under the federal government and is not broken down into federal, state, county and local agencies, Colonel Mansuri said.

"Most of everything else is the same," he said. "We use radio cars, trucks, and jeeps."

"But you don't have any camels here," he added. "We use camels and horses in our rural regions and we find them very helpful. Especially the camels. They can go for 7 to 12 days without food or water."

Juarez Sponsors Ballet Here

Juarez Community Concert Assn. was to sponsor a performance of the Roberto Iglesias Ballet at 8:15 p. m. today (9:15 p. m. Juarez time) in Liberty Hall in El Paso.

The appearance of the Iglesias company is the first attraction of the association's 1959-60 series. It will be held in El Paso because of the incomplete construction of the Juarez Civic Auditorium.

The company is now on its second coast-to-coast tour of the United States and Canada. El Pasoans are asked not to arrive until 8 p. m.

Try to Identify Female Skeleton

was black and probably had been dyed red. He said remains of clothing was of a net material "such as that used in evening gowns." "She was dressed up pretty fancy," the sheriff said. A bracelet with the initial "A" inscribed on the outside and the initials "M. R." on the inside was found.

The bones, clothing, and jewelry were boxed up in Las Cruces for shipment to the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory in Washington in an effort to establish the height, probable age and other particulars. Sheriff Garcia said a truck load of sand would be taken from the site where the bones were found and sifted for clues. Margaret Patterson, of El Paso has been missing with her husband W. D. Patterson since March of 1957. Mrs. Patterson's hair was brown, streaked with gray. The only other female in the Sheriff's Department's missing person's files is Rita Lewis, 15, who disappeared in Roswell on Oct. 15 while visiting her father. She is described as 5 feet 4 inches tall, 124 pounds, with blonde hair. Detective Glen Walker of the Police Department's missing persons bureau said the only woman in their files is Wanda Morally, 27, missing since Jan. 29. She is 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 97 pounds and has natural brown hair. This is the fourth time since 1957 that Mrs. Morally, a former patient, has been reported missing. The other three times she returned home, Detective Walker said. Her husband now lives in Albuquerque.
