(Continued from Page One) creditors and Patterson's father, however, the possibility is raised that both Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Patterson may be dead.

The receivership is necessary to protect the property rights and interests of W. D. Patterson and his wife if alive, and the interests of the father and all other heirs "should it later be determined that they or either of them are dead."

Under the judge's order Receiver Roth will be manager of the photo business. According to the petition, Kirkland, one of the defendants, was manager of the Pattersons' business after receipt of a telegram, presumably from Patterson, last March 15. Under Kirkland's management, the petition said, the photo house has been averaging a business of $20,000 a month.

The petition says Mr. and Mrs. Patterson disappeared March 5 of last year without notice to employees, associates, relatives or friends.

Telegram Listed
On March 15, it says, Mr. Roth received the following telegram from Dallas: "Sorry had to leave so sudden. Sell house trailer and use money for business. License both cars for business. Tell Art to cancel DC reservation and to take care of business like it was his as part will be some day. Put Kirk in complete charge at same salary Duffy pays him. Work with both of them. Tell Kirk to rent the house for nine months at least. Handle all of this as quietly as possible. Important. Sure you will understand. PAT"

According to the petition the "Art" in the telegram was Mr. Moreno, long-time employee of Patterson. The "Kirk" was D. G. Kirkland, manager of Duffy's Photo Supply.

Mr. Moreno said the DC in the telegram refers to a hotel reservation Patterson had made for a convention at Washington, D. C. He said he canceled it as ordered.

Bond Provided
Roth and Kirkland were satisfied that the "Pat" affixed to the telegram, which was sent from a Dallas pay station, was W. D. Patterson and that he sent the telegram, the petition says.

Judge Ward's order requires Receiver Roth to file an inventory of all assets and personal property received by him, and to deposit all receipts from the business in a receiver's account in El Paso National.

Mr. Roth's $20,000 surety bond was provided by the Lawyers Surety Corp., Herman C. Talley representative.

Meanwhile it was learned that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson at 3000 Piedmont avenue has been rented.

Otto Bombach, real estate man, said he has rented the house to Bill Cook, Times police reporter. Mr. Bombach said he undertook to rent the house at the request of Mr. Roth.

The Pattersons' home was vacated by Lieut. Col. Philip Belson, British liaison officer, when his lease expired Dec. 15. The Belsons said they were told when they leased the house in August that the Pattersons were expected to return Dec. 15.

The house rents for $125 a month.

The Mexican newspapers, represented by corps of correspondents covering the campaign, are friendly to Alvarez but represent newspapers antagonistic to the candidate. They expressed resentment during the present phase of the campaign that the correspondents in the retinue of Adolfo Lopez Mateos, received champagne suppers and caviar while in the Alvarez campaign the fare is frugal and the campaigning is hard.

The young candidate, traveling through poverty stricken towns of Mexico, knows of the poor living and economical conditions which are unknown to most tourists who travel in Mexico. In a speech at Santiago Papasquiano, Durango, Alvarez spoke of the Pistoleros with their big pistols who impose the will of the government on the people and promised that if they, the people, will only vote, and then stay at the polls on election day to see that the poll ballot boxes are not taken at gun point, victory will be theirs.

Mr. Alvarez was born in Camargo in southern Chihuahua, where he still has ranching interests. He is 39, a graduate of El Paso High School and studied for two years at the University of Texas.

Armed Man Robs Bliss Phone Unit

Mrs. Cook said today she was in "no condition" to offer any comment.

The telephone exchange, an "attended station" where servicemen place phone calls and pay the toll fees in cash, is located at Service Club No. 3 in Logan Heights.

The bandit also rifled the purses of both women. The purses contained three paychecks for $73 each.

Eighty-six dollars in a locked canvas money bag, which the bandit removed from the safe was left unopened on a desk.

Mrs. Pyle told police the man came to the club after closing hours. Told the club had closed, he replied, "I know it" and produced the revolver.

"I was so frightened I didn't really observe him closely," Mrs. Pyle said today. "But he seemed rather nervous, and I had the idea he was new at what he was doing."

Mrs. Pyle said the man appeared to be around 24 years of age, and weighing about 180 pounds. She said he had long black hair, combed straight back, and that he needed a haircut. His fingers were long and slender.

"There wasn't a GI look about him," she said.

After forcing Mrs. Pyle to open the safe, the bandit ordered them to remove their hoisery. Mrs. Cook was commanded to bind Mrs. Pyle's hands behind her back with a stocking. The man tied Mrs. Cook's hands. The women were than ordered into the woman's lounge and Mrs. Cook was forced to produce a key for three locked cash boxes inside the safe.

The bandit locked the front door of the Service Club as he left. Mrs. Cook was able to get the key for the door to the lounge and while the bandit was locking the front door, the women locked themselves in the lounge.

They waited about 20 minutes and "until we couldn't hear him outside anymore." Then crawled through a rear window of the wash room. With their hands still tied with the hoisery.

Military police immediately began a check of all vehicles leaving the post. City police conducted an
