

Page Two Labor Steps Up Political Drive To Halt New Laws

By FRED W. PERKINS
Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 15. — Exposures of corruption in some labor unions are reacting toward expansion of the AFL-CIO's political activities.

The leaders anticipate a drive toward further restrictive national legislation, including possibly a Federal law outlawing compulsory union membership, resulting from revelations of the Senate committee headed by Senator John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat.

So, it was argued in a meeting yesterday of Cope, which means the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, labor efforts must be redoubled to bring about election of senators and congressmen with union sympathies.

Show Fear

Cope includes all 29 members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, which is meeting here, plus 15 other officers of unions not represented on the Council.

Some of the leaders are frankly fearful that the corruption exposures will have a bad effect on public sympathy for the labor movement—and may extend beyond the comparatively few unions that thus far have been hit directly by the Senate investigation. This would spill over into the political field.

Among those with a fearful outlook is James L. McDevitt, director of Cope. But he adds there is no yardstick as yet for measurement of the exact harmful effect.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has stated that his organization will continue to co-operate with the Senate committee, but will resist any effort at legislation that would punish the innocent as well as the guilty.

Lack Contributions

McDevitt is a critic of the McClellan committee for ignoring management to a large extent so far in its investigations. He says that the racketeers who have been turned up in the labor movement originated on the management side, and are still operating with some employers, particularly in New York City.

McDevitt said Cope's main problem still is "to get our people to participate and make dollar contributions to the political fund."

This year's contributions, he said, "are light, and we're concerned about it."

He noted that this is an "off year" politically, so far as election of members of Congress is concerned.

Woman Ticketed After Her Car Hooks Truman's

By United Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 15.—Miss Willie Mae Dunn of Kansas City was given a ticket yesterday for failure to yield the right of way. Police said the fact that the person who had the right of way was former President Truman made no difference.

Miss Dunn, 48, and Truman were driving south when the woman's car edged into the inner lane and hooked the left front fender of her car to the right rear bumper of Truman's vehicle.

Truman was a bit late for a lunch engagement, but otherwise didn't seem disturbed. Neither driver was hurt.

CONFIRM NOMINATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — The Senate has confirmed the nomination of George W. O'Sullivan of New Mexico to be the collector of customs of District 50. His headquarters will be at Columbus, N. M.

Life on Other Planets Likely, Says N. M. Prof

By Associated Press
LAS CRUCES, N. M., Aug. 15.—The man who discovered the planet Pluto says many astronomers agree, purely on the basis of the laws of chance, that life may exist elsewhere in the universe.

Clyde Tombaugh, a member of the staff of New Mexico A. and M. College, said in an interview that our planet is one of several revolving about one of billions of stars.

"It is sheerest egotism," he said, "for man to believe that the universe was created for his special benefit, or even for life at all."

Lists Rabies Vaccine Centers

1000 injections were administered by local veterinarians at $3 each.

The Veterinary Association yesterday made final plans for participation in the program. The Association has six members.

Following the fire station inoculation drive, Mayor Telles plans to rely on strict law enforcement methods to inoculate remaining unvaccinated dogs. Plans for the drive were made after Dr. A. B. Rich, director of the Veterinary Division of the State Health Department, recently said El Paso a rabies epidemic area.

Yesterday, Veterinarians Dr. Robert Butchofsky, Dr. Gerald Cady and Dr. Robert Lowe agreed to act for the association, and order 5000 injections of anti-rabies vaccine on consignment for the week's drive.

During the campaign, Humane Society Manager Gordon Hale said he will attempt to make a record of dogs inoculated. To date, complete records of El Paso's dog population do not exist.

See Epidemic

State veterinary medicine officials recently said an epidemic existed in El Paso after learning that 88 dogs had been declared rabid here so far this year. The 12-month average from 1954 to 1956 is 60.

Chief tool in a law enforcement program would be City ordinance 551, which provides for fines up to $200 for persons who refuse to have their dogs vaccinated.

Support for the program has been pledged by City Corporation Court judges, and will be sought from the military services, and other law enforcement agencies. Mr. Hale said that the Humane Society's stray pick-up program will be intensified.

Chapel Construction Begins at Holloman

Construction is underway on a new base chapel at Holloman Air Development Center, N. M. Maj. Gen. L. I. Davis, center commander, turned the first spadeful of earth to officially begin the job at a groundbreaking ceremony.

The new chapel, expected to cost approximately $253,000, will be of masonry construction. It will seat 300 people when completed in the late spring or early summer of 1958.

The Modern Construction Co. of Santa Fe is erecting the chapel in accordance with Air Force definitive designs. It will contain four offices for the two chaplains and their assistants, a chaplain's sacristy, and a Eucharist Chapel for members of the Catholic faith.

Air conditioning, by evaporative coolers, also will be installed.

Since the establishment of Holloman, base chapel activities have been conducted in a World War II continent-type building.

Sticks Neck Out in Probe

Legislative Committee on Industry and Labor "to create a facade of legitimacy."

The committee fired Miller the next day. He sent his wife. The Senate committee staff started digging.

After Miller read his prepared statement, Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy started reading affidavits.

The first was from Stephen F. Dunn, president of a furniture employees association in Grand Rapids, Mich. Dunn said that in 1946 Miller, then an organizer for a Furniture Workers Union, had threatened a bloody union fight in Grand Rapids and had asked how much it would be worth to the employees to get him out of town. No deal was made, Dunn's affidavit said, but Miller soon left anyhow.

"Scurrilous Liar"

Miller told the committee that Dunn, who was not present, was a "scurrilous liar."

Kennedy also read affidavits that during a union contract negotiation in 1949, Miller solicited a bribe of $500 from New York Mattress Maker David Scharaga to talk the workers in Schalaga's plant out of their demands for retroactive pay. He actually received $600, the affidavits said. Schalaga then told Upholsterers International Union President Sol Hoffman all about it, and Miller was fired.

Miller denied all this and said it was a plot to oust him from the union because he threatened to expose Hoffman's manipulations of the union welfare fund.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo, mystery figure in New York labor rackets, refused to testify today but heard a recorded wire-tape in which he directed another Teamster official to refer a problem to "Jimmy" Hoffa.

Appearing before the Senate Labor Rackets Committee, Corallo refused to answer almost all the questions put to him. He declined to say whether he knows Hoffa—his presumptive to the presidency of the giant Teamsters Union—or Racketeer Johnny Dio.

But the committee, over the objections of Corallo's attorney, confronted the Teamster official and narcotics figure with a series of tape recordings and had a New York City detective identify Corallo's voice.

The committee is especially interested in Hoffa because he has

Three Young Musicians To Play in Concert

Three talented youngsters from Ft. Worth will arrive in El Paso tomorrow to play with the El Paso Symphony Orchestra in an outdoor concert tomorrow at 8 p. m. at El Paso High School Stadium.

The musicians, brought here at Orlando Barera's expense, are Inez Turley, violinist; Fred Petty, French horn, and Linda Harwell, bassoonist.

Miss Turley and Miss Harwell participated in the Border Music Festival this summer. They were the festival's two soloists. Miss Turley, who was concertmistress of the orchestra, played as her solo Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor. Miss Harwell played first bassoon in the festival orchestra. Her solo was Mozart's Bassoon Concerto.

Mr. Petty played first chair French horn in the All-State orchestra. He, too, is a master of more than one instrument and plays string bass and piano in Fort Worth dance bands.

Miss Harwell also was with the All-State orchestra, playing first chair bassoon. She has appeared with the Fort Worth Civic Opera and also as a soloist with various university groups. She will play first bassoon with the El Paso Symphony.

porter where Mr. and Mrs. Patterson may be. He replied that it "is nobody's business." Told of their friends' concern, Mr. Roth termed them "just a bunch of busybodies."

Sgt. John Frizzell of the Sheriff's Department was unable to get information from Mr. Roth.

"So far I have no evidence that there was any foul play," Sergeant Frizzell said.
