TRANSFORMATION-The old 82nd Field Artillery Regiment theater at Ft. Bliss gets a thorough face-lifting during its transition to becoming the new St. Michael's Chapel. Natural stone and light mahogany pillars are combined to make an imposing entrance to the building erected in 1920 for a gymnasium. The new chapel will be ready for Christmas services.

Converted Chapel Tizzy Nears Completion At Ft. Bliss

A thrice-converted morale services building at Et. Bliss is rapidly nearing completion for its dedication as he new St. Michael's Chapel. The new chapel, with a seating capacity of 600, was necessitated by increasing personnel at Ft. Bliss. The former St. Michael's will continue in use as a center for reigious activities.

Located on the corner of Sheriian and Artillery roads, the redesigned chapel was originally built for a gymnasium in 1920. Later it was converted to a regimental theater serving the 82nd Field Artillery Regiment. The building also was used as an officers' and non-commissioned officers' club, in turn. It recently provided additional warehouse storage space for the Center Quartermaster Corps. Complete remodeling, by J. E. Morgan and Sons, El Paso contractors, will make the new chapel outstanding in the 4th Army area.

New Support Added

The onetime gym has been equipped with completely new structural support from foundation to new roof. Exterior brick walls have been plastered in a cream color and an imposing entrance has been added.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 30. -Police Lt. Ed Swan said a 40year-old housewife killed herself with a .32 pistol last night after a domestic quarrel over her purchase of a $70 Bible.

Swan said Mrs. James North left her husband and 2-year-old daughter in the middle of dinner, walked into the bedroom and shot herself in the heart.

North told police the quarrel started when he arrived home from his bookkeeping job and saw the Bible. He said he and his wife had previously agreed not to spend money on what he called extras.

By Kate Osann Nixon and Adlai Could Cancel Each Other Out

By MILTON BRITTEN Scripps-Howard Staff Writer WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—There is a possibility Vice President Nixon and Adlai Stevenson will represent the United States at next

Should the vice president and the former Democratic presidential candidate go to the "heads of state" meeting it might be that the U. S. wouldn't get much done. For if Dick and Adlai meant everything they said barely a year ago, each would have to spend every spare moment frustrating the other's ill-advised efforts to deliver the U.S. and her allies into the jaws of doom.

Distrust Each Other

According to their own estimates -But Happy they admire and trust each other like a farmer and a fox in the henhouse.

A review of last year's pre-election oratory uncovers these among reciprocal unflattering appraisals: Stevenson on Nixon Oct. 17, 1956: . . . We cannot have in high places men who talk out of both sides of their mouths, who talk loosely and irresponsibly in foreign countries, men who talk too

And as I believe the Patterson mystery for demagoguery, Adaiia said. "this is a man (Nixon) of many masks. Who can say they have seen his real face?"

Of course, all this was said in the heat of political combat. Maybe the boys have forgotten, at A teenage girl in England has least the harsher words. If they haven't we might as well

Girl Saddened Ending Due

Dina Deras is a little girl not quite three years old and she doesn't know about thieves. That's why she keeps asking her mother why she can't ride her tricycle in the sunshine.

While Dina and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deras of 3620 Mountain avenue were away from home Thanksgiving Day, somebody stole her red; white and blue tricycle from the Deras' front porch.

Dina's saddening story, however, is due to have a happy ending-one way or another. If the tricycle isn't recovered, Santa Claus will be asked to deliver another one for Christmas.
